

A friendly workshop where men can gather, work together, share skills and knowledge or just have a chat over coffee.

The Winslow Show is an annual highlight for us so, after two years of regrettable but necessary 'no-Show', it was great to be back for 2022 with bumper attendance, perfect weather and a return of the sights, sounds and excitement of this important Town tradition. Here is Tony early in the day. Getting close with a camera was impossible after about 10:00!

Winslow Shed has been established for 7 years now so it's fair to say that many, if not most, people have at least heard of the 'Men's Sheds' idea even if they weren't too aware that there was such a flourishing example right here in Winslow. Thanks to everyone who popped by to say hello, to have a go at 'Woodturning' or maybe even to buy or order some bespoke shed-crafts. It's good that we can contribute to the Show's fund-raising efforts and important for us to have some funds in reserve so we can keep the lights on in what looks like being a difficult winter ahead.

Although making and mending is an important feature of Shedding, we do have a large social area with comfy chairs, plenty of puzzles and games (even a snooker table) and, of course, the kettle is always on. Perhaps for obvious reasons, our social area has been underused in the last couple of years but it could easily become a comfortable, warm meeting place this winter for men with time on their hands and the need we all share to reduce our energy bills at home. We know that 'ammering and sawin' doesn't float every man's boat but getting our social area buzzing could well be something you could be a part of? It fits with the current talk about providing 'warm rooms' or 'warm spaces' this winter but it needn't mean a lot of work or extra expense for us – just being there is the main thing.

Hope you'll pop in for a chat soon!
